Our authors are all musicians that play actively in this music genre.

They are accomplished on their instruments, play in local and regional bands and write and compose music for bluegrass as well as providing educational material that beginner and moderately skilled players can latch on to and use immediately. Not the high level professional material that often leaves the student struggling, frustrated and in the end, annoyed with their purchase. Hot Bluegrass Licks are reachable for all players and that is what makes them so easy to sell. They WORK!
